

About Us

This hemp collection was inspired by the service trip I went on with my school to St. Marc, Haiti in the summer of 2016. We helped run a camp for the students of Les Bons Samaritains School. I brought hemp cord and beads for arts and crafts at camp, and after leaving, continued making my own creations. I decided to turn my work into a little business hoping that I could stay connected to the individuals I experienced, and those after them, despite physically departing from their country. Officially making it to Etsy in May 2017, this continues to be my favorite creative outlet. No matter how big or small, each HEMP FOR HAITI purchase will show love to the kids in St. Marc, and hopefully benefit them in a meaningful way.
